

Rev Nico Weeber

Rev Nico is an experienced Presbyterian Minister young and eager to work with the congregation at Saint Andrew's Colombo.

His particular passion is Pastoral Care and Preaching God's word and to do this, whilst staying relevant to today's world, the local culture and gaining the attention of younger members of our society.

Rev Nico works with an open mind, ready to listen and strengthen relationships between the people he serves by finding the common ground, he is very flexible and looking forward to learning many different ways of doing things including collaboration with other Churches as an expression of our Oneness with Christ.

Rev Nico says, "Ministry is part of who I am, it is not what I do. I walk with people; I do not tell them how to walk. I am here to serve."

He has a Bachelor degree in Theology and a Master degree in Pastoral Therapy. He started his Ministry with particular responsibility for the Youth and moved quickly to Head Pastor.

He enjoys music, sport and people. He is married and has four children, two older teenagers and two children of 12 years old. He has travelled in Asia and has some experience of our culture. His home is South Africa and has experience working with a multi-cultural society in that context.

Rev Nico fits very well within the profile of SASK and has many of the qualities as desired by the congregation of St Andrew's Scots Kirk.
